

ADVERTISING AND MARKETING DISCLAIMER

For paid ads, organic marketing, testimonials, claims, platform policies, and marketing performance.

Effective Date: 07/06/2026

1. Scope

This Advertising and Marketing Disclaimer applies to all advertising, marketing, campaign management, content creation, social media, lead generation, search, paid media, email marketing, SMS marketing, websites, landing pages, funnels, virtual assistants, and automation services provided by Judo Marketing.

2. Truthful and Substantiated Claims

Advertising and marketing claims must be truthful, not misleading, and supported by appropriate evidence. The client is responsible for verifying all claims about products, services, pricing, guarantees, discounts, credentials, licenses, medical or clinical statements, financial outcomes, expected results, availability, and testimonials before publication.

Judo Marketing may request documentation supporting claims and may refuse to publish or manage content that appears misleading, unsupported, unlawful, or risky.

3. No Guaranteed Results

Judo Marketing does not guarantee sales, leads, booked appointments, revenue, profit, return on ad spend, follower growth, engagement, search ranking, platform approval, audience size, click-through rates, cost per lead, cost per acquisition, or any specific performance result.

Marketing performance depends on budget, offer quality, competition, market conditions, platform algorithms, business reputation, pricing, creative quality, landing page performance, client responsiveness, and many factors outside Judo Marketing's control.

4. Advertising Platform Control

Third-party platforms may reject, restrict, pause, remove, or suspend ads, accounts, pages, assets, payment methods, business managers, or campaigns. Judo Marketing does not control platform review standards, approval timelines, delivery, costs, account quality scores, or enforcement decisions.

The client is responsible for advertising spend and third-party charges unless otherwise stated in writing.

5. Testimonials, Reviews, and Endorsements

Testimonials, reviews, influencer content, before-and-after claims, endorsements, affiliate promotions, and case studies must be truthful, not misleading, and properly disclosed when there is a material connection, payment, free service, discount, employment relationship, or other incentive.

The client must obtain permission to use customer reviews, photos, videos, names, logos, testimonials, and likenesses when required.

6. Healthcare and Professional Advertising

Healthcare, ABA therapy, wellness, clinical, legal, financial, and other regulated businesses are responsible for complying with professional board rules, licensing requirements, privacy laws, advertising restrictions, consent requirements, and platform rules applicable to their industry.

Judo Marketing does not provide legal, medical, clinical, financial, or regulatory advice.

7. Approvals

The client is responsible for reviewing and approving advertisements, content, websites, landing pages, emails, SMS messages, automations, virtual assistant messages, offers, and claims before they are published or used. Approval may be given by email, message, signed proposal, payment, platform access, or other written or electronic confirmation.